Principal's Message

Dear Class of 2007,

You have proven to be exceptional in every way. Please know that you have earned the respect and admiration of an entire community. As your principal, I want you to know you are a source of constant pride as you excel in academics, athletics, arts, and school citizenship. While you have yielded unprecedented success in all measurable data such as MCAS, SAT and AP scores, what I cherish the most about you is your character. Your individual contributions have come together in a confluence of collective excellence that will be your legacy. The Class of 2007 is one of extraordinary integrity and recognizable maturity. Very few classes grow up as you did while on our watch. Most students progress to the next developmental milestones after they leave us. You emerged from the chrysalis of adolescence right before our eyes. Perhaps it was Jeff's "interrupted young life" and the magnitude of his courage that prodded you to grow up somewhat prodigiously. Your support for him throughout his journey and the dignity with which you paid your respects after his death are trademarks of your goodness. Never was I more proud of Sandwich High School than on that day in January when you said goodbye to a true hero and a best friend.

In all you have done throughout your four years here, you have expected excellence from yourselves. You have enriched our classrooms while impressing teachers with the thoroughness of your preparation and the depth and breadth of your insight. You have excelled in all aspects of leadership. The Class of 2007 has made an earnest contribution to the School Committee, the Student Council, the Student Advisory Council, while availing itself of many opportunities in school governance. With you serving as captains, SHS athletes have won prestigious sportsmanship awards and numerous league championships. You have filled our courtyard, auditorium and lives with beautiful music, and entertained us with spectacular musicals and plays. Your artwork is an expression of your considerable talents, and your proficiency in technology is felt throughout the school.

I stand by my statement that in spite of your prolific accomplishments and celebrated intellect, your truly indelible mark is made in our hearts. You are young people easy to love and hard to let go. Knowing you and providing opportunities for your growth has been a privilege. Now, you will respond to your next mission. You can cross the stage in June to receive your diploma knowing that you made Sandwich High School a better place. You can enter the world with full confidence that your impact will make the world a bit better as well. Thank you for all you did for your school, and for all that you are to one another. I will miss you, and I will always be one of your greatest fans. No matter where your paths lead, remember, we are here to help and to welcome you back to a place I hope holds special memories for you all. Your goodness and wisdom will long be remembered. You set a high standard for those who follow. You brought new meaning to Blue Knight Pride.

Sincerely,

Margaret Nichol

Mathematics

Teachers usually choose to teach that which they loved in school. Miss Nichol's love for the art and science of mathematics is clear. What is equally clear is her passion for sharing that love with students who may not initially understand her fascination for the subject.

In addition to being a kind and supportive teacher, Miss Nichol expects that every student will learn, given enough attention; she doesn't stint on that attention. She makes you learn. Her position is clear: this is important work; we can do this; she will never give up on us.

The Coach
The Best of Sandwich
The Extraordinarily Special Person

For Spanish and Physical Education teacher Silvio "Ted" Tedeschi all teaching is a form of coaching: bring out the best in each person; encourage everyone; improve their skills; teach them to play well with others.

For English department member Linda Stoll, the English language is a beautiful thing; the more you understand it, the more beautiful it becomes. She came to us from a career in the "outside world," but brought her Sandwich upbringing and family tradition of teaching here for another generation of Sandwich grads.

For educational support person Karen Giar, every student is "special." She gave her time to each person, in every class to which she was assigned. In helping those who struggled, she demonstrated consideration and concern; with her help, every one of our boats floated a little higher.

These people were blessed with a passion for teaching, and, fortunately for us, they chose to demonstrate that passion at Sandwich High School. As they leave education, at least in the formal sense, we wish them long and happy retirement. Since all of them are Sandwich residents, we know we'll be seeing them around town—and we know they'll remember all our names.

In Loving Remembrance of...

Jeffrey T. Hayes

#12

September 23, 1988 - January 11, 2007

To: Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, Jason, John, and Jeffrey:

Most people can only hope to inspire one person in their lifetime; Jeff inspired thousands in only eighteen years. Jeff was a loving son and brother, a dear friend, and an amazing athlete, but in so many ways, he was so much more than this. Jeff was a hero, the bravest Knight to ever attend Sandwich High School. Jeff's contagious smile and sense of humor are what made us all fall in love with him; however, his demonstrations of the greatest courage, strength, ambition, and heart are what made him our hero, one who will continue to inspire and change our lives forever. Jeff truly was an angel on Earth.

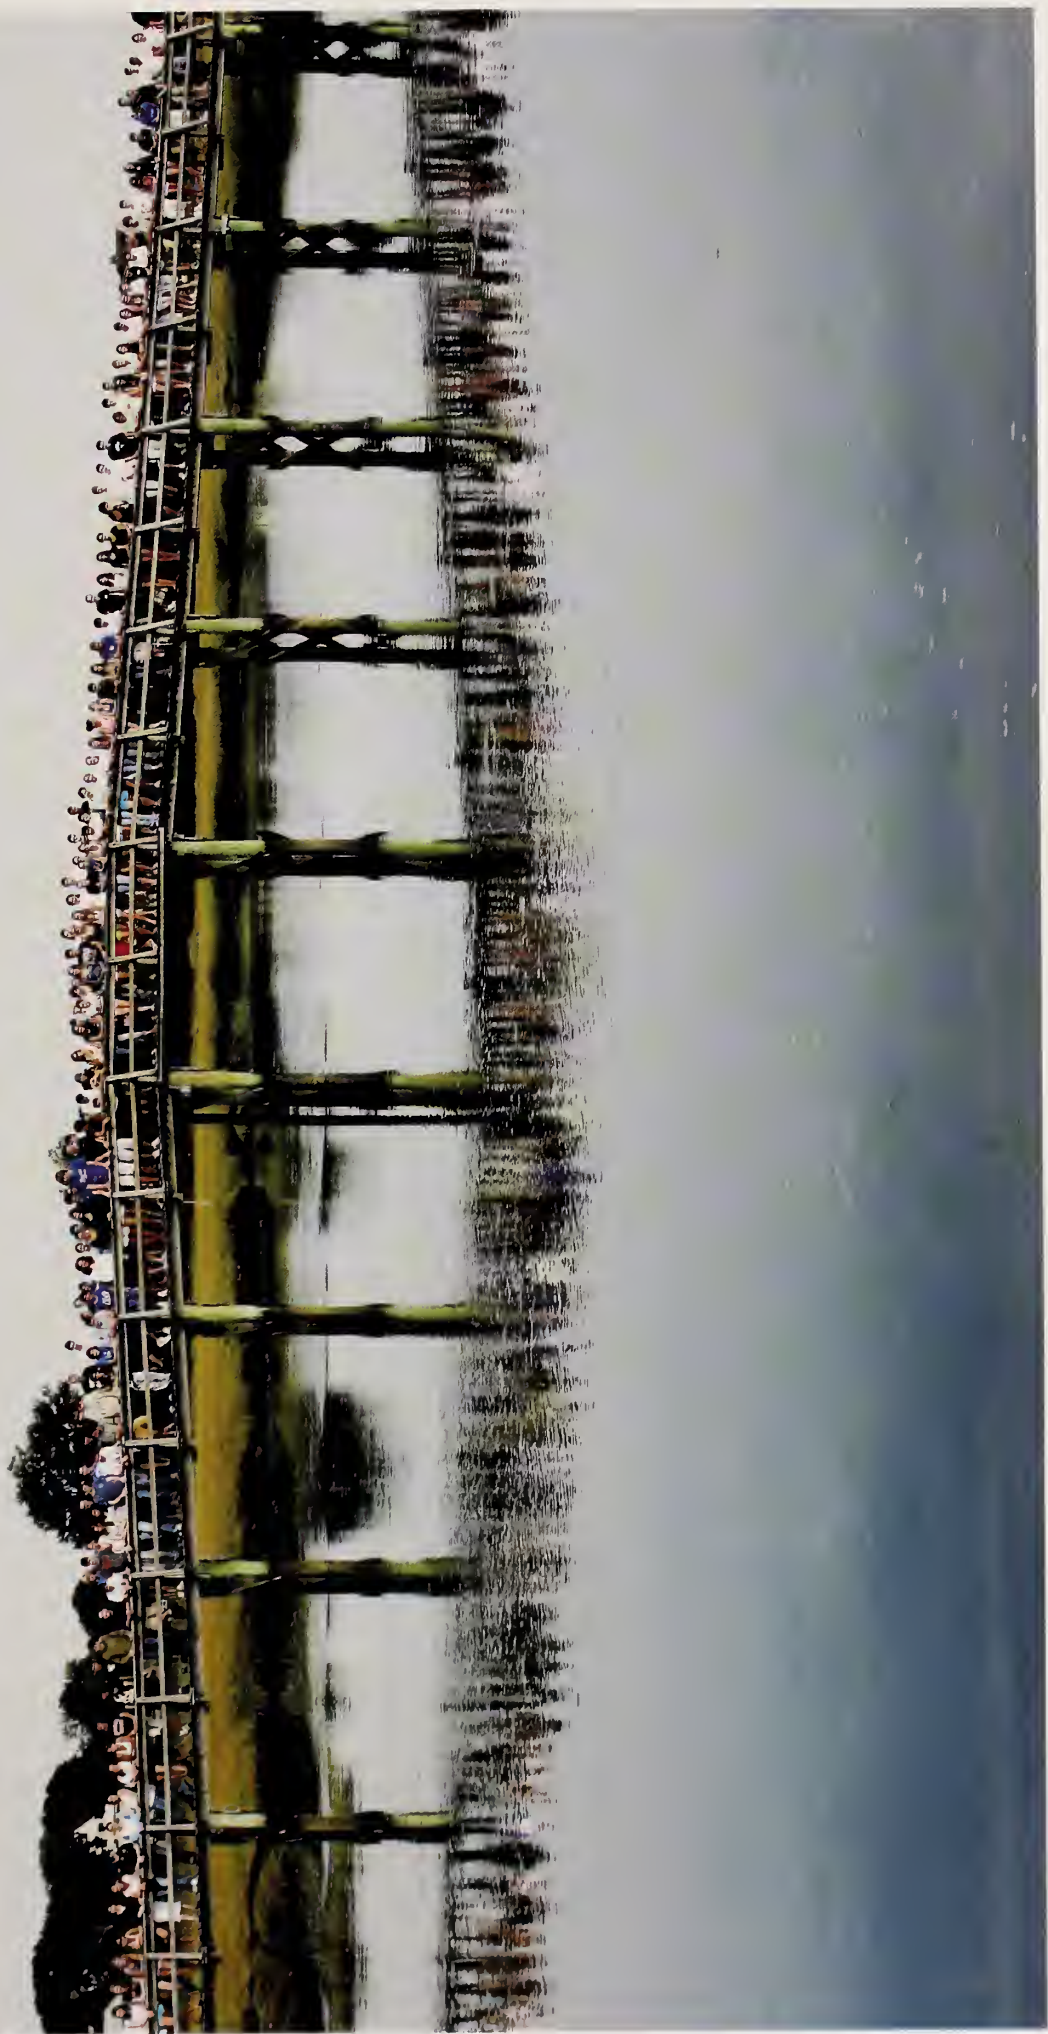

If we are to learn from the playbook of Jeff's life, we must always live our lives to the fullest. Take chances; have fun; compete with passion; love deeply; laugh hard; and never give up. Live everyday as if it were your last. By doing this, we honor Jeff and everything that he believed in. Jeff never gave up; he faced his challenges with bravery, always giving 110% to everything he did. Jeff believed in himself; he was never afraid to show who he really was. Jeff would find humor and happiness in nearly every aspect of life, and was always able to spread this cheer with his friends and family. But most importantly, Jeff always had passion. Jeff loved his family and friends, just as he loved hockey, baseball, a good movie, or a funny joke. Love is a word that defines Jeff Hayes.

Although Jeff may not physically still be here, he will always be with us. Every time we laugh with our friends, watch a great goal, overcome our fears, or find love, we will think of Jeff and everything he has given us. His smile and spirit will be with us always, and his memory will skate in our hearts forever.

Sincerely,

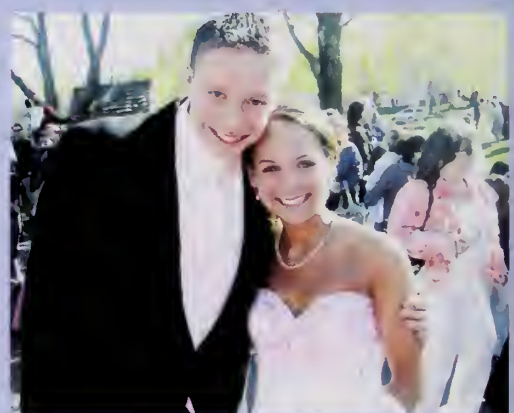

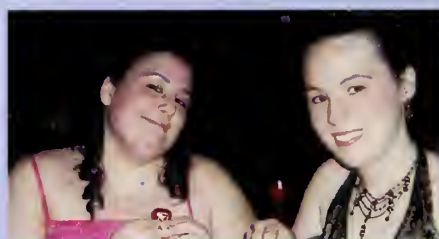

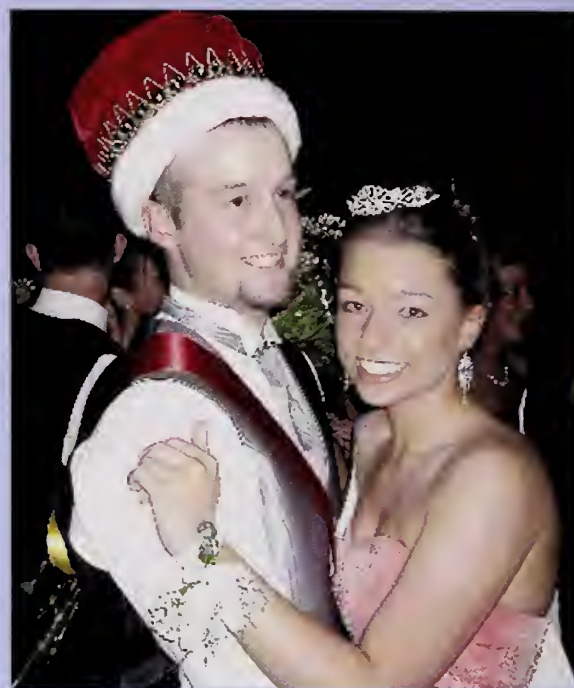

All of the students, teachers, administrators, and staff members at Sandwich High School.

— Sandwich High School CLASS OF 2007 —

Class Officers' Letter

Dear Class of 2007,

When we were in middle school, remember how we thought high school was the coolest place on earth? The kids who went to high school took real classes, like Algebra instead of math. They studied history, not social studies. And their science classes had recognizable names like biology or chemistry. They could drive; they could see R-rated movies. They got five-minute passing periods and were dismissed by two in the afternoon.

Looking back on it now, it's amazing to imagine how different high school turned out to be. After surviving the maze of halls the first day of school, we have all felt pressure from parents, teachers, schedules, homework, and jobs, but we've always toughed it out together, relying on each other. Freshman year did finally end. And the thrill of getting our licenses during our sophomore year was only slightly dampened by our first ticket or our first dent. Football games, our first prom, and Jeff Hayes taking the ice at Canal Cup highlight our junior year. Being upperclassmen was glamorous and wonderful, even if it was a challenge. This year has flown by so fast we can barely remember specific events. We revelled in the fact that we could walk down the hall and hear people whisper, "There goes a senior," when we passed.

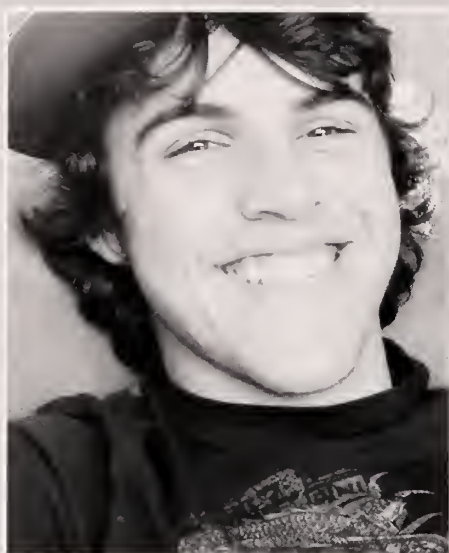

As class officers, we've been entrusted with the responsibility of guiding the class over the last four years. Organizing several fundraising events like Yankee Candle, Tsunami Fest, Live Five, and also planning events like prom, homecoming, and senior day have only been a few of the several memorable moments over the years. However, even though we'd like to believe that these events have been successful because of our tireless work, so much of the credit belongs to you, the Class of 2007. Without your support and participation we could never have achieved so much.

Throughout our high school experience, despite changes in leadership, Mrs. Simpson and Mr. McNeill have been the cornerstones of our class. We owe so much to them. With their unwavering support, dedication, vision, and patience, they enabled our class to be successful. Since freshman year, they set forth several goals and kept us focused on achieving these goals over the years. Thank you for all you have done and continue to do.

Now, Class of 2007, as we venture along our own paths, let us not forget the challenges that we have already achieved and the success we have already accomplished, by graduating from high school. Use your education to develop a quality of life that puts emphasis on the human ability to confirm and understand. Technology can connect us (thank you, Facebook), but only our hearts can righteously bind us together.

Sincerely your Class Officers,

Daiv Shorten, Meagan Field, Caroline Collins, and Dan Mantenfel

I would like to thank Mr. Gisetto for putting up with me for three different semesters. I would also like to thank Mr. Parker, Mr. Russo, and Mr. Gisetto for my amazing recommendations.

To my best friends and my two sisters: I hope the days come easy and the moments pass slow and each road leads you where you want to. I hope you never look back and you never forget all the ones who love you in the place you left. My wish for you is that your life becomes all that you want it to; your dreams stay big, your worries stay small, you never need to carry more than you can hold, and while you're out there getting where your going to, I hope you know somebody loves you, and wants the same things too.

I just want to begin by saying that Sandwich High has given me some of the best years of my life. When I walk away from graduation, I know I will be just fine because of all my teachers who worked hard to help me succeed, my friends who have always been there for me, and my parents for striving for me to do better. I will always remember my favorite class with Mr. Russo. He got me involved in debates, and brought me closer to my friends. I want to thank Mr. Russo for helping me through such a great year, and helping me speak my mind. I also want to thank my friends, a special thanks to Alexa, Scotty, Jon, Paul, both Matt's, Andy, Tim, and anyone else who are good buddies of mine. It's been an exciting four years of high school so many great times with my crazy crew of friends you all know who you are. I just want to say thanks to my mother, father, three sisters, grandmother, teachers, coaches and anyone else who helped me get through these four years of my life

Remember being a 1st grader who thought the 2nd graders were "big kids"? And now we are (once were!) seniors. So many times I wished I could've skipped over SHS—but w/o these past 4 yrs, I wouldn't be ready for what's next. I like to think that I'm self-made, but I'm not. I'm in debt to my family, to "God" for making sure Mr. Eramian didn't retire any sooner than he did, and to countless others (you all know who you are!), so a very big thank-you is in order. Now I'm left with nothing to do but pay it forward.

Wow it's so hard to believe that we are finally graduating!Some of us have gone to school together for 13 years. The last 13 years have been exciting and we have all learned so much and shared so many great experiences. It's hard to believe that after this year we will all be going our separate ways and actually going out into the world. Growing up has been such an adventure and there is so much more ahead of us. There are certain things about Sandwich that I will never forget. The people, the boardwalk, and all the ups and downs from four great years at Sandwich High are what have really made growing up here such a great experience. Best of luck to everyone!

I'd like to start by thanking my mom and dad for helping me become the person I am today. Most people assume that they made the most of their time here but I know I did. It may sound weird but I know I'll miss sitting around having nothing to do with Dave Shorten and Scott Burns or getting into trouble with Erik Alvarenga and Tom Hatch. Thanks for all the great times you guys.

Ever since I began racing a bicycle in 1994, I have not taken much of an interest in anything other than that. I never dreamed, at that point, that I would still be racing today. Now, I know that as long as I am able to walk, I will be racing my bike. As a result of this, I would like to thank my mother and my father, along with my four brothers for all of their support. Outside my family, the one person that has helped me the most is George Sykes, and I would like to extend my thanks to him because without his help, I would not have been able to achieve what I have in these four short years.

In this school I have learned a lot since Oak Ridge, I have improved dramatically with my reading and spelling and I dedicate my appreciation to all of my teachers that hung in there for me when I needed it the most. When I look back in twenty years I want to think back to my high school days and just remember the good times but not forget the bad times. Lastly, for all my peers that are younger than me, you should remember these times and cherish the moments because they'll be gone before you now it. Good luck to all and to all a good future.

Life is too short to let it pass you by. My time at SHS seemed to do just that, but great things came of it. I wish the best of luck to all my friends and want to thank my family for everything they have done for me. For all the mysteries in life, do your best, and don't get caught up in the past. Question everything: to never accept an idea without first questioning it. Every experience I had during the past 4 years has shaped the person I am today: in the classroom, IS (All-Nighters), bonfires with my friends, and even uncovering the meaning of life over a ping-pong table or a game of Frisbee. I'd like to thank Mr. Franke and Mr. Stanford for being my greatest mentors. This may be the end of something great, but I know that what I have come away from high school with has prepared me for the beginning of the next step in my life.

Jessica Shiever

Its been a crazy ride and its finally over. A lot of what I've experienced these past four years will impact me for the rest of my life and I wouldn't have it any other way. I've learned to accept mistakes as blessings, to rely on only myself, and to value the life I've been given. I've learned that those who doubt me dont matter and to appreciate those who continue to support me. To my family: esp. my mom, my stepdad, sav, and lacey- I dont give you guys enough credit. Thanks for everything, I love you. Goodluck Class of '07, I'm outta here!

I'd like to thank my mom, my dad and ames for always being three of my best friends. I wouldn't be who I am or where I am now if it weren't for your unconditional love and overwhelming support of my dreams. I'd also like to thank all of my friends for four amazing years. Oh no, Senior Profile's due. Wait, seniors-those kids that always seemed way older than me? There's been a mistake. High School can't end, I'm not mature yet. My 3rd grade teacher said we'd graduate in 2007. She could've said it'd never happen, 'cuz that's how I've felt ever since. Double Sub Friday-Mikelley, Frank, Drew-Great times scrounging for money, we had to keep it alive. Layland-Franko, Guy, Bry, Joseph-I've never been as dedicated to anything in my life. I loved every moment playing. I'm out of space, you're out of time. I love you all.

SHS was awesome. I think I learned a lot here... No, not from the classrooms, because I slept there mostly. Out of class, from teachers and friends, I learned a lot about respect and things that could help me in my future. If I had to pick one person that I thought was my biggest influence, I would probably say myself. I've always tried to be myself and make friends with those who like me. I meet a lot of good people here: nice people, funny people, smart people and people who I know will go far in life. No matter where I go, I'm always going to remember SHS and the people I meet here. Take care class of '07, I hope you accomplish what your life desires.

From the Class Advisers

To the Class of 2007,

It can't believe our time together has to come an end already! We have enjoyed so many laughs, faced our tragedies, and achieved many successes during an amazing four years here at SHS.

We know that each and every one of you has so much to offer and that you will always do your best....

"Anyway"

People are unreasonable, illogical and self-centered.

Love them anyway.

If you do good, people will accuse you of selfish ulterior motives.

Do good anyway.

If you are successful, you will win false friends and true enemies.

Succeed anyway.

Honest and frankness make you vulnerable.

Be honest and frank anyway.

The good you do today will be forgotten tomorrow.

Do good anyway.

The biggest people with the biggest ideas can be shot down by the smallest people with the smallest minds.

Think big anyway.

People favor underdogs but follow only top dogs.

Fight for some underdogs anyway.

What you spend years building may be destroyed overnight.

Build anyway.

Give the world the best you have and you'll get kicked in the teeth.

Give the world the best you've got anyway.

We love ya!

Congratulations, Haley!
You make us proud
and we look forward to all that the future holds for you!
Love,
Mom, Dad, Cory & Abby

May you live a long life
Full of gladness and health,
With a pocket of gold
As the least of your wealth.
May the dreams you hold dearest
Be those which come true.
The kindness you spread
Keep returning to you.
May the friendships you make,
Be those which endure.
And all of your gray clouds
Be small ones for sure.
And trusting in Him
As you go forth today,
May a song fill your heart
Every step of the way.
An Irish Blessing
Congratulations, Josh!
Love, Mom, Dad, Lauren, Peter & Claire

character lies in your own

Mom, Dad, Ashley, and Johnny

Twinkle, twinkle, little star,
A super special girl you are,
Up upon the ladder so high,
Feed your soul and you shall fly...

A little baby girl; you had determination and a spark in your soul from day one. Then in kindergarten you seemed so shy and scared in such a big world, but we all knew you would quickly overcome; for your flame may flicker, but it never goes out.

You leave that impression on everything and everyone.
You are true to yourself, your choices have been strong and from the heart, at every turn.
You amaze me and I am trying to put into words how proud I am of you.

You love with passion, you fight with will, you think with determination, you cry with pain, you listen with openness, you stand with pride, you learn with the faith that you can apply this knowledge, you laugh from your gut, you sing so everyone can hear, and you dance like nobody's watching.
But we are Alicia, we watch with envy and hope.

Love,
Momma

Frankie,

"There's a light in your eyes that keeps shining,
Like a star that can't wait for the night."
We have been so proud of you, every step of your way through childhood.
You have filled our home with music, laughter, creativity, and most of all love.

Now that you've become "just a guy trying to make my way," continue to make good, believe in yourself, be true to yourself; and you will accomplish all that you set your mind to do.

We wish for you happiness and success in whatever road you choose.

"An inspiration is what you are to us."
Thank you for brightening our lives.

Love,
Mom and Dad

As time has passed we have watched you grow. We are so proud of you. You inspire me.

As a small child you were full of smiles and joy. Your strength has grown as you have. Your future is so bright, it reminds me of how I chose your name.

The sunlight shone through my Crystal, so bright, it blinded me for a moment. So many colors, so many shapes, so many different ways to look at the beauty.

My daughter, my brightest gift. No longer mine. On her own, with a future so bright, and a spirit so deep.

Crystal Clear, my Crystal Dear, we love you, for who you are and who you will become.

We love you.

Your brother,

David,

The years have gone by so fast and with each new stage you have added excitement to our lives. From the time you were little and taught your older sisters that boys could play with Barbies, as long as they were in crashes so they could be rescued by fire trucks and ambulances (much to their dismay), to all your involvement in sports and taking tennis to a whole new level. You have inspired us all with your spirit and determinations.

Always continue to aim higher than you believe you can reach! We love you!!

Mom and Dad
Jenna, Luke and Diana
Good luck at Notre Dame!

Jessica,

When we held you in our arms for the very first time, eighteen years ago, we knew that this day would come, just not so fast. Here it is, and we cannot tell you how proud we are of your accomplishments. They are too numerous to list, but here are a few: our little skating snowball, playing baseball and softball, confirmation, National Honor Society and Prom 2006. We believe that we have tried to prepare you for what is ahead on the long journey of life with the tools to do well and prosper. Graduation is but a milestone on the road, large rocks that you will walk over, but will always remember with fond memories. You will remember the good times, the jubilation and the reflection of inspirational people you have met on the way and will be a better person because of them. You are our hero. Always remember how much we love you, and where home is while at college. Good Luck to The Class of 2007.

Love,
Dad, Mom and James

Paul,

You have brains in your head. You have feet in your shoes; you can steer yourself in any direction you choose. You're on your own. And you know what you know.

And YOU are the guy who'll decide where to go.

You'll look up and down streets. Look 'em over with care. About some you will say, "I don't choose to go there." With your head full of brains and your shoes full of feet, you're too smart to go down any not-so-good street.

Dr. Seuss

Melissa,
From the day you were born, you filled our hearts with love and our days with joy. Thank you for all that you have brought to our family; for filling our lives with an energy only you could bring. Of all the things Dad and I have accomplished and achieved in our lives, our proudest moments have come from you. As the time draws near for you to leave, I can only recall the independent spirit you were at three years old when you attempted to walk to preschool by yourself. It is clear to me now that you have always been curious about the world beyond the borders of your home and now the time has come for you to venture off and experience all that is waiting for you. May life be kind to you and may the world embrace you. May you be surrounded by loyal friends who love, support, and appreciate you and may you be blessed with all that you are so deserving of. Congratulations on all that you have accomplished and know that we are very proud of the young woman you have become.

Love, Mom, Dad, Kenny, and Chase

How can we explain in a few sentences what you mean to us? It is not an exaggeration to say that life without you is impossible to consider.

You have so much talent and have accomplished so much that it is not enough to say we are proud of you.

There is no way we can tell you the depths of our love. All we can do is to remind you of our love and to be thankful you are a part of us. Stay true to yourself, and all will be well.

Amanda-

The years have gone swiftly by, and now it is time for you to fly. I so am proud of all the things you have done in your grade school years, that sometimes it has brought me to tears.

In middle school, sometimes it was rough, But surely you made it through smart and tough.

Although high school can be full of stress, You have aced it with plenty of zest.

As you continue on your journey, Never forget that we will love you for eternity.

Mom, Mariah, and Luna

Billy-

From Preschool Graduation to High School Graduation! As Dr. Seuss said: "You have brains in your head. You have feet in your shoes. You can steer yourself any direction you choose." We are proud of you and wish you success in whichever direction you choose.

*Remember ... "a whole new world," all the adventures in skating, getting your own room and being sad about it, Jellystone, making us laugh so hard around the dinner table, jumping in leaf piles, sledding in the island, singing karaoke, thinking the top bunk was "gonna fall," camp with Cassan, crashing Ry's dirt bike, nutcracker, your first cell
phone, your first car,
and all the firsts yet to be.*

Whatever your future holds, wherever you go, for all eternity, we are always here for you!!

Love, Mom, Dad, Heather, and Ryan

PS: "My Idea"

Looking back on your school years, we are all in amazement of what you have accomplished, with all the obstacles you have been given. Pride does not begin to express what we feel when we think of all you have done, to become a 2007 SHS graduate. You truly have the power to change the world--you already have. We wish you all the happiness and success you deserve, and all the Louis' you ever could dream of! All Our Love,

Mom, Dad, and Holly

Yle—It seems like yesterday we picked you up from Pine Manor College as you awaited anxiously with all your AFS friends to become part of our family. In such a short time, we have grown to love you, as you are one of our own! A shy girl from Italy has blossomed into a self-confident, hardworking, and delightful young lady. Yle, we are so proud of you! Realizing you will not be with our family for much longer, you must remember one thing--never forget that you will always be in our hearts. Love you, Yle.

This is called "saving the very best for last."
We could also call it, "This book brought to you by..."
The Lancer Staff

The creation of a yearbook involves people who function as photographers, business managers, layout specialists, and computer troubleshooters, hard workers, those who will chase down sports results-- and sometimes the same person fulfills all those roles. Staffmembers may appear for a month, or a season, do their part and leave, or they may sign on for the duration. They may think they signed on for a season but stay for the whole cycle. It also involves a supportive school administrative team.

In 2006-2007, this group raised (and spent !) $30,000 to produce this book. It took ten months, beginning in August with the first book sales, and ending with the yearbook picnic in May. We owe them a round of applause--and the first hot dogs at the picnic---just as soon as they finish distributing the books.
